BABY'S CRIB.

Only a baby's tiny crib, In a darkened, lonely room, Only the sound of a mother's moan, Heard in the deepening gloom. A baby's footsteps forever still, The blue eyes closed in sleep-

The mother's heart o'erflows with tears, As she kneels by the crib to ween.

How the little arms had clasped her, In the happy days gone by, And the little voice had held her With a baby's cooing cry;

Now the tiny form is laid at rest, And the crib is put away, The mother cannot bear to look Where once her darling lay.

"He giveth His beloved sleep," She says to her lonely heart, And, though she feels that the Lord knows

Tears to her eyelids start; And she bows her head upon the crib Her lips form a silent prayer, Darkness spreads-the shadows fall, Not alone-for God is there.

Religion that a Parrot Could Scare.

Exchange. A good story is told of a parrot who had always lived on board of a ship, but who escaped at one of the Southern ports and took refuge in a church. Soon after, when the congregation assemebled and the preacher began preaching to them in his earnest fashion, saying that there was no virtue in them-that every one of them would go to endless perdition unless they speedily repented. Just as he spoke the sentence up spoke the parrot from his hidingplace: "All hands below!" To say that "all hands" were startled would be a mild way of putting it. The peculiar voice and the unknown source had much more effect on them than the parson's voice ever had. He waited a moment, and then, a shade or two pater, he repeated the warning. "All hands below" again rang out from somwhere. The preacher started from his pulpit, and looked anxiously around inquiring if anybody had spoken. "All hands belew!" was the only reply, at which the entire panic-stricken congregation got up, and a moment afterward they all bolted for the doors, the preacher trying his best to be first, and during the time the mischievous bird kept up yelling; "All hands below!" There was one old woman present who was lame, and could not get out as fast as the rest, and in a short time was left entirely alone. Just as she was about to hobble out the parrot flew down, and, alighting on her shoulder, yelled in her ear: "All hands below!" "No, no, Mister Devil!" shrieked the old woman, 'you can't mean me I go to the

The Specie-Room on Shipboard.

November Scribner.

In these days of heavy gold shipments the specie-room on the steamship is a very important institution. It is located in an out-of-the-way place amidships, under the saloon. Few of the passengers know of its existence, or of the valuable treasure that is carried across the ocean with them. The room varies slightly on different ships, but is usually about 19 feet long, by 10 feet wide, and 8 feet high. It is constructed of steel plates one-quarter of an inch thick, and strongly riveted together. The floor, the ceiling, and the walls are all of steel plates. There is a heavy door also made of steel. It is provided with two English "Chub" locks, a variety of combination lock that is said to be burglar-proof. The gold and silver is usually in bars, but occasionally a quantity of coin in bags is shipped. This was the case when the heavy shipments of gold were made last spring. The Majestic is credited with carrying the largest quantity, her strong box having $4,500,000 intrusted to it for safe keeping.

The purchasing power of twenty cents may seem small, yet it secures economy for the poor; good health in consequence of warm, dry feet to the feeble; pleasure to the rich and fastidious; and comfort to everybody when invested in a hottle of Wolff's Acme

'Groun' hogs out, and seed his shadder!" -Indianapolis Journal.

Cumberland Presbyterian.

This story is going the rounds of the press: "An old colored preacher was asked how his church was getting on, and his answer was: 'Mighty poor, mighty poor brudder.' 'What is the trouble?' and he replied: 'De 'cieties, 'cieties. Dey is jest drawin' all de fatness an' marrow outen de body an' bones ob de blessed Lord's body. We can't do nuffin' widout de' ciety. Dar is de Lincum 'Ciety, wid Sister Jones and Brudder Brown to run it; Sister Williams mus' march in front ob de Daughters of Rebecca. Den dar is de Dorcases, de Marthas, de Daughters of Ham, and de Liberian Ladies,' 'Well you have the bretheran to help in the church," No sah, dar am de Masons, de Odd Fellers, de Sons of Ham, and de Oklahoma Promised Land Pilgrims Why, brudder, by de time de brudders and sisters pays all de dues, and tends all de meetin's, dere is nuffin' left for Mount Pisgah church but ist de cob; de corn has been shelled off, an' frowed to dese speckled chickens." There is a hint here for white readers. There are far too many organizations which are taking the time and sapping the strength Christian people without giving value received in benefit to their members. The home and church should not be neglected for the " 'ciety."

Dogs Help Each Other to a Drink.

The fountain on the Clark Street

side of the county building was the scene of a very funny incident the other afternoon. Two dogs, waterspaniels, were trotting north when they came to this place and stopped for a drink. They were both thirsty, but neither was tall enough to reach the trough, and they talked the matter over as dogs will, and wondered why they had not been treated with as much consideration as had the horses. Presently they solved the problem. One of them ranged himself under the edge of the trough, and the other, resting his forefeet upon his companion's back, was able to reach into the pool and slake his thirst. When he had finished he hopped down, seemed to say the water was good, and then in turn ranged himself under the edge of the fountain, and the other reached up for the drink he had earned. When he was satisfied they trotted away together, as well contented as any man could be who had met a problem and vanquished it.

The Chautauqua Schools of Sacred Literature anticipate some extraordinary features this year, and it is confidently affirmed that these departments will prove to be the crowning success of Chautauqua work during the present season.

Prizes for bread making are popular this year at young ladies' seminaries. The girls say it is not hard to win them; a girl who can learn to translate the "Erlking" and the fable of the raven and the cheese can learn to make a loaf of bread in half the time.

Miss Jean Gordon, of Cincinnati, upon whom will be conferred the degree of Ph. G, at the Philadelphia College of Phar macy, has earned the highest average ever attained by any woman graduate from that institution. Out of the 184 graduates in the class of this year only six obtained the highest rating of "distinguished." Miss Gordon was one of the six. She was the only woman in her class, and had to contend with bright young men.

Within a few years the public school system of New York city, which is now one of the largest systems in the world, is likely, according to School, to exceed greatly its present size. With a population of 1,700,000, there are now more than 300 school departments in the city, 4,200 teachers, an average attendance of 160,-000 pupils daily, and a total attendance of 300,000. The salaries of teachers, janitors, and employees now aggregate over $3,000,000, and the expenditures for the schools yearly exceed, considerably, $4,-000,000. Another 10 years will add, by the natural growth of the city, half a million to its population, and not less than 25 per cent to the number of school buildings, to the attendance, the teachers, and the expenditures.

Read, be convinced, invest, and get well quickly.

How many continue to suffer from year to year from the effects of blood poison! Some seem to get possessed of the insane idea that there is no cure. Yet nature has provided a cure for every ailment. There are herbs of such sure healing virtue that, rightly used, they will eradicate every trace of blood poison from the system. These herbs are blended in the composition of Dr. John Bull's Sarsaparilla, a remedy that has restored to health more victims of inherited and contagious blood disease than all other medicines put to-gether. Don't suffer longer, but give this remedy a trial. If it did not excel in curative virtue the many so-called blood medicines that are commonly found in drug stores, we would never spend one cent to advertise it. Our object is to relieve suffering humanity, and every bottle sold proves this to be a fact. Mrs. Robert A. White, of Carrollton, Ky., writes:

A. White, of Carroliton, Ky., writes:

"Inherited scrofula. The disease did not develop until after I was married. The glands of my neck became and remained swollen and gave me great pain. I had miserable health and looked consumptive. I began a use of Dr. Bull's Sarsaparilla, and before I had used a dozen bottles the swellings disappeared and I gained in flesh, and I am now in splendid health; thanks to this one remedy alone."

A year ago (I am now 18) I visited my uncle up in Indiana, and he got me to try Dr. Bull's Sarsaparilla. After using a few bottles I was surprised to find the Itching ceased, and shortly after myskin healed over and became clear. Now I look and feel as well as anybody, and I cannot praise Bull's Sarsaparilla enough."
